Fruit Handlers Quit Work Leaving Tons to Go to Waste

Through the walkout of 600 non-union freight handlers who demand higher wages, tons of fruit destined for the New York market and awaiting transfer to trucks from the Erie piers, at West and Duane Streets, will not reach their destinations.

SHOOTS WIFE, SON, SELF IN RAGE AT SEPARATION

MARTINS FERRY, O., Aug. 16 (By U. P.).—Mrs. Catherine Davidson Escott, 43, is dead; her husband, Ely Escott, and one son are dying, and a second son is seriously injured following a revolver attack by the husband and his attempt to commit suicide. Escott became enraged when his wife refused to return to him a third time.

ASHBEL E. OLMSTEAD DIES

Ashbel Edward Olmsted, civil engineer, died at his home in East Hartford, Conn., yesterday.

The piers affected are 20 and 21, North River. They are operated by the New York Marine Company. Some seventy gangs have been at work loading the fruit, part of it in freight cars on barges and part of it, stored on the piers, on to trucks. About sixty of these gangs went out.

It was said today that most of the fruit would be saved if it was moved, but that it would spoil if the tie-up lasted beyond a day or two.

The tie-up affects more than 300 cars, of which sixty contain oranges and forty melons.

Late last night it was reported that groups of freight handlers on New Jersey piers also had walked out.
